A Talk and Book Signing by

Daniel Dawes
Executive Director, Satcher Health Leadership Institute at Morehouse School of Medicine

Daniel E. Dawes, JD
Daniel E. Dawes, J.D., is a widely respected healthcare and public health leader, health policy expert, educator, and researcher who serves as executive director of the Satcher Health Leadership Institute at Morehouse School of Medicine and a professor of health law, policy and management in the Department of Community Health and Preventive Medicine. He is a scholar, attorney, and health policy expert in the movement to advance Health Equity among under-resourced, vulnerable, and marginalized communities, Dawes brings a forward-thinking, inclusive, and multidisciplinary approach to health policy, and has been at the forefront of recent major federal health policy negotiations in the United States. He has published work on health reform, health equity, health disparities, behavioral health, and social determinants of health, Dawes is the author of two groundbreaking books published by Johns Hopkins University Press: 150 Years of Obamacare and The Political Determinants of Health. He has worked on the U.S. Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee where he advised committee members on issues related to health care, public health, employment, education, and disability law and policy.