in the Coccidioidal Endemic Region”

Tuesday, July 22, 2025
11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.
AHSC 8403 & Zoom

Dr. Justin Hayes is a clinical associate professor of medicine in the University of Arizona Division of Infectious Diseases and the medical director of the Banner University Medical Center antimicrobial stewardship program in Tucson. His primary areas of focus are the optimization of antimicrobial usage and diagnostic testing. He represents Banner University Medical Center and the University of Arizona as a site principal investigator for the SHEA Research Network. In addition, Dr. Hayes is interested in clinical mycology and is actively involved in the Mycoses Study Group Education and Research Consortium. More recently, as both an infectious disease physician and antimicrobial steward in Arizona, Dr. Hayes has become interested in the unique challenges facing antimicrobial stewardship programs in the endemic region for coccidioidomycosis.
