

Medicine Grand Rounds "Resuscitation Science: Our Arizona Experience Challenging the Status Quo"

Speaker: Karl B. Kern, MD

UArizona College of Medicine – Tucson Lecture Hall, Room 5403 1501 N. Campbell Ave., Tucson, AZ 85721 Noon – 1:00 pm | Wednesday, Oct 15, 2025

-A light lunch will be provided. -

About the Presenter: Dr. Karl B. Kern joined the University of Arizona in 1980 as an intern and resident in Internal Medicine, later completing his cardiology fellowship at the same institution. He devoted his entire medical career to the University of Arizona and the Sarver Heart Center, where he served as a faculty member and held numerous leadership roles. Dr. Kern was a key member of the University of Arizona Resuscitation Research Group, contributing to the development and global promotion of chest compression-only CPR—now widely known as "Hands-Only CPR"—which is currently recommended as the standard basic life support technique by the American Heart Association. He is now Professor Emeritus of Medicine at the University of Arizona and was the most recent holder of the Gordon A. Ewy, MD Distinguished Chair of Cardiovascular Medicine prior to his retirement.
