A collaboration with the University of Arizona's Undergraduate Biology Research Opportunity (UBRP). The summer research opportunity is offered to University of Arizona Native American undergraduates. Participants work 35 hours per week for 12 weeks in the summer on a mentored research project. It is an opportunity for students who have little to no prior laboratory experience to explore research as a career option.

Application deadline: February 1st, 2022

Click here to learn more about NACP and how to apply.

For further inquiries, please contact program coodrinator Carolina Pineda: carolinapineda@email.arizona.edu