Saad Ajmal, MBBS, FASMBS, joins the Department of Surgery as a clinical assistant professor with the MIS/bariatrics team.

The University of Arizona Department of Surgery (DoS) at the College of Medicine – Tucson is pleased to welcome Saad Ajmal, MBBS, FASMBS, as the newest member of the department faculty. Dr. Ajmal joins the department as a clinical assistant professor with the MIS/bariatrics team.

Dr. Ajmal completed his internship and general surgery residency at Brown University’s Alpert Medical School and his bariatric/minimally invasive surgery (MIS) fellowship at Highland Hospital with the University of Rochester in New York, where he was also appointed as a faculty fellow in Bariatric and Minimally Invasive Surgery.

“My first priority is safe and effective care of my patients,” he said.

Dr. Ajmal's clinical interests include minimally invasive foregut/hiatal surgery, bariatric surgery and general surgery. He has published multiple scientific articles on thyroid and esophageal cancers, among others, and he is a member of the American College of Surgeons and the American Society of Metabolic and Bariatric Surgery.
